However, in the event such paragraph or clause is considered an essential element of the Agreement, the parties will promptly negotiate a replacement thereof.

G. Neither party shall export, either directly or indirectly, any product, service or technical data or system incorporating such items without first obtaining any required license or other approval from any applicable governmental agency or department. Both parties agree that neither it nor any of its Affiliates will export/re-export any technical data, process, product, or service, directly or indirectly, to any country for which the applicable government from where it is shipping requires an export license, or other governmental approval, without first obtaining such license or approval.

When Customer contacts a TAC, a Service Request is logged/generated, a Ticket is created, and Customer is provided with the Ticket reference number. Customer can obtain the status of the Ticket at any time via Dialogic’s website (www.dialogic.com) or by calling the TAC. As part of the Service Request, Customer and Dialogic will determine in good faith the severity of the Ticket based upon the severity levels set forth in Section 6.2 below. A Service Request is not considered recorded until a positive acknowledgement with a reference number is provided to Customer. Customer’s individual user registration is required to gain access to confidential support information. Registration can be requested online via the website.

6.2. Severity Level Definitions: Customer and Dialogic will determine in good faith the severity level of the Service Request, based on the conditions set forth below:

Critical	Errors that severely affect production service, traffic, billing, and maintenance capabilities, and require immediate corrective action. Dialogic will reclassify a Critical Error as a Major Error if there is a suitable Workaround with adequate documentation or if the issue occurs in a non-production environment. A Critical Service Level Request will not be handled on 24x7 basis unless the Customer is entitled to 24x7 support, i.e., having Gold or Platinum contract service level that is already in place. Critical Errors include, but are not necessarily limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A total system failure that results in loss of all data transmission. • Reduction in capacity or traffic handling capability such that the system cannot handle expected loads in accordance with the Documentation. Capacity refers to the capacity for which the necessary Hardware has been installed and the Software configured. • Severe degradation in capacity or traffic handling capability. • Any material loss of safety or emergency capability (i.e., 911 call). • Loss of the system’s ability to perform automatic system reconfiguration pursuant to the Documentation. • Inability to restart the system. • Loss of protection switching capability. • Loss of billing capability. • Corruption of billing or system databases that requires service-affecting corrective actions. • Loss of access for maintenance or recovery operations. • Loss of the system’s ability to provide any required Critical or Major Error notification.
Major	Errors that cause conditions that seriously affect system operation, maintenance, and/or administration, and require immediate attention. The urgency is less than for Critical Errors because of a lesser immediate or impending effect on system performance, Customers, and Customer

	operation and revenue. Dialogic will reclassify a Major Error as a Minor Error if there is a suitable Workaround with adequate documentation. Major Errors include, but are not necessarily limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Material reduction in any capacity and traffic measurement function. • Any material loss of functional visibility and/or diagnostic capability. • Repeated degradation of port connections. • Prevention of access for routine administrative activity. • Degradation of access for maintenance or recovery operations. • Degradation of the system’s ability to provide any required Critical Error or Major Error notification. • An increase in system-related Customer trouble reports. • High billing error rates. • Issue blocks development or potential new deployment. • Corruption of system or billing databases not resulting in service affecting corrective actions.
Minor	Errors which do not significantly impair the functioning of the system and do not significantly affect service to Customers. These Errors are tolerable during system use. Customer information requests will be classified as Minor.

6.3.Dialogic Response and Escalation

Dialogic will use commercially reasonable efforts to adhere to target times (“Response Times”) specified in the table set forth below. All Response Times are estimates based on Dialogic experience and are provided during applicable support hours. Response Times apply to systems that are in production. Dialogic provides an automatic escalation procedure using the contacts and escalation thresholds set forth in the Response Time Table for all open Tickets to notify appropriate management personnel of issues that require increased attention. Response Times for Hardware issues are subject to Customer having the appropriate spare part on site, or Customer purchasing On-Site Hardware Repair Service. The escalation process is an automatic process, triggered by the severity level.

The times listed in the table below are subject to restrictions and limitations in place for the particular contract Level Services (i.e., Silver, Gold, or Platinum) purchased.

Error Correction Response Time Table

	Error Classification
	Critical	Major	Minor
Initial Response Time	< 30 minutes	< 2 Business hours	< 4 Business hours
Restore Time	Continuous activity to restore in < 12 hours	< 3 Business days	N/A
Resource Allocation	Management and all appropriate technical resources	Appropriate technical resources	Technical resources as available
Escalation for Correction
Senior Expert	6 hours	24 hours	30 days
Support Manager	12 hours	48 hours	60 days

It is noted and acknowledged by the parties that in at least certain instances the time frames listed within the table above might not include/reflect development engineering resources and bug fixes, which may require additional time.
